

If coal's reign meets its demise
When carbon dioxide fills the skies,
Let smoking chimneys puff no more
And renewable energy steal the floor;
But if you, as I, feel the time is right
To make a bold step into the night
And find that sunshine lights the way;
We'll make the world green for all today!
May the world unite, with minds so bright
And in them we can have such faith,
And we'll march on, and on, and on
For our children will be safe

Jonathan Davidson, fourth year undergraduate of Electronic Engineering (MEng) at the University of Sheffield